

I respectfully submit that this proposal is untenable in today's world. People need boundaries. To do otherwise is to invite conflict. It has been proven over and over again that there is a large element within the American amateur radio community who will push the boundaries of the rules and use the letter of the law to justify their actions without honoring the spirit of it. There was a time when gentlemanly like conduct prevailed. That is no longer the case. To ignore this and allow this proposal to become reality will only serve send this service on the road to chaos.

Respectfully submitted,

Anthony Scandurra
